

WOMEN VOTERS HOLD BALANCE OF POWER IN ELECTION TO-DAY

women keeping close up to the men voters.

Later in the morning the women began to go to the polls in all parts of the city. In the majority of sections they were keeping up with the men in their proportion of registration at the ratio of one to three.

The Barnard College girls weren't among the early voters, but turned out fairly strong about 11 o'clock. On Columbia Heights in Brooklyn the women reached the polls at an earlier hour. Teachers, art students and women of means were included in this class.

INDICATIONS ARE LIGHT VOTE WILL BE POLLED.

At York and Poplar, in the tenement district of Brooklyn, the women preserved the one to three ratio. The average vote grew stronger as the hours advanced and at noon there were waiting lines at the polls all over the city. But at that hour the consensus of political opinion was that the returns for the day would be light.

At nearly every booth were women of the Red Cross and they reaped a harvest for the Red Cross campaign. Old-timers smiled at this and more than one remarked that the dollars were going in different directions than in the "good old days."

"A report that liquor was being used to coax reluctant voters caused excitement at Internal Revenue headquarters in the Custom House and enforcement officers were kept on the run all morning. The First and Eighth Assembly Districts in Brooklyn were named as among those where an anxious voter in the know could be accommodated. There were similar reports from Staten Island.

In Brooklyn the early voting was much less brisk than in former years, which was accounted for by the leaders by the fact that it is an off year. Women captains, guards and election officers were punctual and vigilant at their posts. With the exception of Brownsville and sections of Williamsburg, the women did not flock early to the polls. In Socialistic quarters the vote was the heaviest and the women compared well with the men in point of numbers. No disorder was observed anywhere.

BIG VOTE IN BRONX INDICATED IN EARLY HOURS.

Early voting in the Bronx indicated two things: that a large vote would be polled and that most of the votes being cast are straight tickets. It was not expected that the women would be out early and the expectation was fulfilled. The housewife waited until the family had breakfasted, the dishes washed and the house cleaned up before going to the polls. The "business" girl, generally, didn't go to work, but reserved her visit to the polls until later hours.

Democratic Leader Arthur H. Murphy was abroad early and was confident that Moran and Calahan, candidate for City Court Judge, would go down to the Bronx line with 40,000 majority.

Sheephead Bay and Coney Island were early at the polls and the speed with which the tickets were marked caused considerable speculation. In the Sheephead Bay section, for instance, there had been voted in one district more than sixty ballots before 8 o'clock. The sixty-second ballot was dropped into the box at five minutes to 8 and there had been only three women in the polling place.

Oldtimers in Sheephead Bay accounted for the early voting with the explanation that the weather was ideal for fishing and that many devotees of the art of angling had risen early, cast their ballots and had hied themselves to the docks and fishing smacks.

POLICE AND FIREMEN AID MOVE FOR HIGHER PAY.

Indications were that the firemen and policemen were lining up for the men who have made pre-election pledges to vote for increases in their salaries, and that they would be against the Tammany candidates for Aldermen, and possibly for other positions.

A meeting of firemen was held yesterday and from authoritative statements it was learned that the Tammany ticket would be knifed in reprisal for the action of the Board of Estimate in voting against the increase of salaries. The fire leaders were particularly strong for Henry Curran for Borough President and F. E. La Guardia for Aldermanic President, both of whom have made the increase of salaries a campaign issue.

"Charley Murphy," said a fireman, "has said that the firemen and the cops would fall in line as they have always done. But we will miss his guess this time. We are going to vote for the men who are with us in our fight for a decent living wage."

The polls close at 6 P. M. in the 2,567 polling places of Greater New York. Each voter is allotted five minutes in the booth. Everywhere the voters, especially the women, have been urged not to be hasty and be sure the ballot is marked correctly.

Betting is comparatively light and Social Wall Street wagers were estimated at $75,000. The candidates quoted closest at these odds: Undermyer, 8 to 5; Foley, 5 to 1; Moran, 5 to 1; Reuben L. Haskell, 4 to 1; George J. S. Downing, 3 to 5.

The total registration is 1,079,256, as follows: Manhattan, 326,437; Bronx, 150,637; Brooklyn, 407,129; Queens, 110,475; Richmond, 34,583.

REPORTER FINDS 'SUGAR' EASILY AT THE POLLS; GETS $1 IN LITTLE BAG

Surprised When Envelope Is Handed to Him as He Says He "Voted Right."

A REPORTER leaving home this morning was commanded by his wife to procure some sugar in New York if it were possible. The reporter, following his arrival at his office was assigned to "cover" a certain election district for news. In the course of his wanderings he went into the polling place to find some local color.

Emerging, he remembered the parting word about buying sugar and approaching a watcher of the polls said:

"Any sugar around here?"

"Did you vote right?" was the watcher's question.

"Sure," returned the reporter, having in mind his vote earlier in the day.

"Well," the watcher said after some hesitation, "if you did that, here's the sugar," handing the scribe an envelope.

The envelope contained a $1 bill.

are to express a choice for city, county and minor offices, and for members of the Assembly. They also pass on four Constitutional amendments.

The paramount issue is acknowledged to be that affecting the Judiciary and created through the action of the Tammany inner counsel in turning down for a renomination Justice Joseph E. Newburger, naming instead Irwin Untermyer, a young and comparatively unknown lawyer, whose father is well known in Tammany circles.

This contest, in the judgment of practically all politicians, will overshadow any other that the voters have to pass on.

In a measure, too, the result to-day, because of the importance of the women vote, will determine whether the grip of Tammany upon the city is to be stronger than ever, or whether the women have weakened it. Should the Tammany programme go through, it will indicate that the strength of the Wingman among the women equals its strength among the men.

The one city office to be filled is that of President of the Board of Aldermen, Robert L. Moran, Democrat, and F. H. La Guardia, Republican, being the chief contenders for this office, which is the only one for which voters in all parts of the city will cast their ballots.

Next in point of importance are the Supreme Court positions to be filled. Voters in Manhattan and the Bronx, which form the First Judicial District, will vote for two candidates for Supreme Court positions. Voters in the Second Judicial District, which comprises the other counties in the city, will vote for one candidate. The position of Surrogate in New York County is to be filled, also the position of Surrogate in Kings County.

County Judges are to be elected in Kings County and City Court Justices in Manhattan and the Bronx. In Manhattan a Borough President is to be elected to succeed the late Frank L. Dowling, and in the 15th Senatorial District a State Senator is to be elected. In addition, Aldermen are to be chosen in all boroughs and Assemblers. There are also Municipal Court Justices to be chosen. In Kings a Sheriff, District Attorney and County Clerk must be elected, and there are other offices to be filled.

ELECTION NIGHT LIKE ANY OTHER IN CABARET LIFE

Boisterous Celebrations Not Expected on Account of Bone Dry Law.

Prohibition has taken all the joy out of Broadway on Election Night and marks the passing of one of New York's great institutions. No table reservations have been made for to-night in any of the prominent hotels or cafes.

From Healy's to Maxine's the answer was the same as to reservations. There weren't any. Julius Keller, Vice President of the Society of Restaurant and proprietors of Maxine's was the only proprietor astir at the noon hour.

"We all expect the regular Saturday night attendance," said Mr. Keller. "So far as I have heard there hasn't been a reservation made and can you blame the people. Jazz is all right but they want the kick that goes with it. One can't live up to any great extent without liquor and men and women are not going to come down town to buy one-half per cent. of nothing when they have the real goods with the kick in it at home. Election night in New York seems to be a thing of the past."

Government Gains in New Brunswick Election.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Nov. 4.—A gain for the Government in the general election held in Newfoundland yesterday was shown in the returns from the Port de Grave district given out to-day. In this district Sir John Crobie, Minister of Shipping, won by a vote of 837 against 668 for George Gimes, the opposition candidate, who held the seat in the last house.

Purer for Veteran Watchman.
Joseph J. Young, who has guarded the vaults of the Mercantile Safe Deposit Company for forty years and who is the Nation's oldest active vault man, to-day received a vote of thanks and a substantial purse from the company directors. "Joe" is a familiar figure to hundreds of the company's clients.

Women Voting Early in Oliver Street Precinct; This Is the District Where Gov. Smith Casts Ballot

WOMEN VOTING HEAVILY THROUGHOUT THE STATE

Both Democrats and Republicans Claim Gains in the Assembly.

ALBANY, Nov. 4.—Fair weather reported throughout the State contributed largely to the heavy rush of voters to-day. Reports received here from most sections of the State indicated that women were almost as numerous as the men at the polls.

State headquarters of both Republicans and Democrats were confident they would show an increase in the number of assemblymen elected. Republicans asserted they would probably add ten to their membership of ninety, while Democrats were equally insistent they would cut down the present Republican majority.

In the city of Albany, where the Democrats with R. K. Townsend as their Mayoralty candidate, are putting up their hardest fight in years, the situation is regarded as close. At Democratic headquarters it is claimed the Democrats will carry the city by 3,500.

"CLUBBINESS" SCHWAB'S REMEDY FOR NATION'S INDUSTRIAL CONFLICT

"Unionism Restricts Production and Will Ultimately Fail of Itself," He Says.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—CHARLES M. SCHWAB attacked unionism and praised labor here to-day. He stated that the average man had not shared fairly in the prosperity of the country during the last twenty-five years. He advocated a more "clubby" relationship between employer and employee.

"Unionism," he said, "devises artificial means of restricting the productivity of the workingman and will ultimately fail of itself."

RETURNS ARE RELAYED TO MORAN ON SICK-BED

Democratic Candidate for President of Board of Aldermen Is Unable to Vote.

Despite the fact that Robert L. Moran, candidate for President of the Board of Aldermen on the Democratic ticket, was able to walk around his home yesterday, following an operation some time ago for appendicitis, he will not cast a vote to-day. Arrangements were made by Arthur H. Murphy, Democratic leader of the Bronx, to have the returns relayed to the candidate's home at No. 1486 St. Lawrence Avenue.

Mr. Moran pleaded with his physician to be allowed to sit in front of his polling place, but the physician told him he could not leave the house for several weeks.

Bridgeport Polls Record Vote in Municipal Campaign.
BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Nov. 4.—After the hottest municipal campaign Bridgeport has seen in twenty years, voters went to the polls to-day to decide whether Lieut. Gov. Clifford B. Wilson shall be returned as Mayor for the fifth time, or whether Allen E. Vincent, chosen of the Democratic, Fusion and American Labor Parties will be the city's executive for the next two years.

It appeared evident early a record would be polled. Thirty-six hundred new voters, mostly ex-soldiers, were made this year, and party leaders predicted that nearly 20,000 voters would be cast. Both parties were confident of success and it appeared that the result would be close.

Schmitt Opposes Rolph in San Francisco.
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—James Rolph, who is serving his second term of four years as mayor, and Eugene E. Schmitt, former mayor, who was indicted during the graft investigation here in 1907 as the principal contender for the office of chief executive of San Francisco in the municipal election to-day, Charles M. Fickert, district attorney under whom the Mooney bomb cases were prosecuted, is a candidate for re-election.

Illinois Votes on Initiative and Referendum.

80-Pound Bag Of Sugar Left By Burglar

Brooklyn Home Invaded by Night Prowler, Who Leaves Rare Gift in Flight.

The faint sound of footsteps in the hallway of No. 2192 Fulton Street, Brooklyn, roused Richard Rommer, a tenant, at 2 o'clock this morning.

He dressed silently in the dark, armed himself with a club, and slipped out into the corridor. For two or three minutes he listened, but heard nothing.

Convinced that a burglar was somewhere on the premises, Rommer roused other tenants and started a search. They opened the door leading to the basement and turned an electric flash down the stairway.

Near the top the flash revealed a huge leather bag, much larger than a burglar would be expected to use. Rommer was about to pick it up when his arm was jerked back by Thomas McVeigh, a neighbor.

"Don't touch it—call the police," said McVeigh. "It's probably a bomb."

All the women and children in the building were roused and taken out of the building before Detectives Dunne and Beck arrived from the Brownsville station.

They lifted the grip and carried it carefully to the station, where it was opened.

"This looks like what the Grand Jury might call an 'overshadowing crime,'" said Donnelly.

The bag contained eighty pounds of sugar, subdivided into two-pound packages. It awaits its owner.

'WHERE NO CHILDREN THERE IS NO MARRIAGE,' ASSERTS PROF. DURANT

Divorces Due to Vanity, Psychological Incompatibility and Lack of Offspring.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—HAPPINESS of man and woman is only a secondary affair in marriage, the prime purpose of which is to produce robust children, Prof. William J. Durant, of Columbia University said in a lecture at the Sinal Social Centre here last night.

"Where there are no children there is no marriage," he added. Free love is impossible, the professor said, because conquests of a man are praised by other men, but if a woman had had one free love affair she is held in ridicule and belittled by her associates.

"Most men now marry after they have become incapable of love," the professor continued, "and then comes your divorce."

"Courts say that divorces are due to cruelty, drunkenness and half a dozen other things, but they are all wrong. The three fundamental reasons for divorce are:

"1. The natural vanity of both sexes.

"2. Psychological incompatibility.

"3. Lack of children."

CHEER GOVERNOR AND WIFE AS THEY ARRIVE AT POLLS

Cast Ballots Across Street From Home—Mayor and Mrs. Hylan Vote Early.

Governor and Mrs. Smith voted at 10.30 o'clock in Public School No. 1, the sixteenth precinct of the First Assembly District, across the street from their home in Oliver Street. They were driven there from the Hotel Biltmore, accompanied by Charles E. Thornley, Robert L. Moran's campaign manager, Thomas O'Brien and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Cohen, old neighborhood friends.

Oliver Street was crowded with their friends as the automobile drew up and the party was greeted with cheers. Inside the school they were met by Tom Foley, License Commissioner John Gilchrist, Congressman Dan Riordan and others. There was quite a line of voters and the Governor and Mrs. Smith took their places at the end. Last year Mrs. Smith was the first to cast a vote in the district, the honor of being the first to vote for her husband for Governor being accorded her.

Her ballot number this morning was No. 250 and that of the Governor, No. 251. Miss Tess Ferris, woman captain of the district, stepped out of the line and greeted Mrs. Smith with a kiss. There were women with babies in arms in the booth and with these the Governor lingered to talk. When the women went into the booths to vote some other women held their children.

The Governor announced that he was going to spend the rest of the day with his mother whose sixty-seventh birthday he will celebrate in her home in Brooklyn. If possible, he said, he would attend the dinner of the Fifth Avenue Association at the Waldorf on Thursday night.

Mayor and Mrs. Hylan walked two blocks from their home at No. 359 Rushwick Avenue, Brooklyn, to cast their votes in a polling place at Greene and Evergreen Avenues early in the morning. After a cheery "good morning" to everybody in the place they spent about five minutes marking their ballots. The Mayor refused to comment on the election and drove to City Hall shortly before 9 o'clock.

Miss Bertha Rumbaugh, Republican candidate for Justice of the First District Municipal Court, cast her ballot at 10.30 o'clock in Public School No. 3, Hudson and Grove Streets, the polling place of the Thirty-first Election District of the First Assembly District. A battalion of camera men was waiting for her. She wore a long grayish-black belted coat, a black velvet hat, blue tailored suit, manna; soft white collar and blue tie and square-toed, low-heeled shoes.

"The district," Miss Rumbaugh said, "has been Democratic for thirty years but I look for tremendous Republican gains. I am hopeful but see no reason for extravagant claims."

Irwin Untermyer, candidate for Supreme Court Justice, cast his ballot at 8.55 at 83d Street and West End Avenue. Major Fiorella H. La Guardia, Republican candidate for President of the Board of Aldermen, and his wife voted at 11 o'clock in a tailor shop, one flight up, at No. 66 East 12th Street. They were met by Miss Burnett, Republican captain of the district and campaign manager for Philip J. McCook, candidate for the Supreme bench. The Mayor, after he had taken his place in line, surrendered it to Mrs. Cornelius Fox, seventy-seven years old, of No. 43 Fifth Street.

APRES NOUS LE DELUGE

By DR. BERTHOLD A. BAER.

Does it really not matter what happens to us after death?

If so, why do we prepare for death?

Why do we live to leave a good name, a memory to be cherished?

Do we live only to enjoy and "apres nous le deluge"?

We do prepare for death while we live, but our preparations do not go far enough.

Years ago people were afraid to talk of death—many are today.

Humanity became more enlightened and people began to select and purchase their burial ground.

Then they tried to forget that they had done so. Soon, however, they realized that they owned a building-plot, not a house, and they engaged architects and began to build costly Mausoleums.

A man of affairs who had stood before a Mausoleum, the beautiful frame, realized that his friend had failed completely by not providing a proper picture for the same, as there was placed into a permanent home the most fallible picture, "a wooden casket."

After careful investigation the man of affairs was convinced that only Bronze is lasting, permanent, indestructible. He built his Mausoleum and placed in every crypt therein a genuine Campbell cast-bronze casket, such as you may see at any time at The Funeral Church, Broadway at 66th Street.

Not one of his family is dead, as yet; but he has his house in order and he realizes that at the end of time the remains of his beloved ones will be incorrupted and that the last tribute paid to the departed has been a tribute of perfect love and perfect understanding.
